ABSTRACT

This paper contains two sections that document the contents of the 1976 Master File of the National Longitudinal Study of the High School Class of 1972 (NLS). The Master File contains 1,669 variables, including 1,495 items from the Release File, as well as items drawn from the Student Record Information Form and items that were withheld from the public release files for confidentiality reasons. Section 1 is a quick guide to the contents of the file and contains a summary listing of each variable. Section 2 presents a complete and detailed listing of variables and variable frequency distributions. For each variable in the file, the variable number, a short variable label, the tape location, a longer variable title, and a completely labeled frequency distribution (for all categorical codes that occur for that variable) are presented. For several items, individual code tabulations would not be appropriate; in these cases group frequencies are reported, or only the frequency of data within the minimum to maximum range of the item and the error codes for the item are given. The fields that contain alpha-numeric information are documented as such in the frequency distributions. (Author/JAC)

NLS Master File Documentation

This paper contains two sections that document the contents of the 1976 NLS Master File. This file is similar in structure and content to the 1976 NLS Release File. The only differences are in the number of variables in the file. The Master File contains 1,669 variables while the Release File contains only 1,495 variables; the Release File is a subset of these 1,669 variables. The additional variables that make up the Master File are primarily drawn from the Student Record Information Form and items that were withheld from the public release files for confidentiality reasons.

Section 1 contains a summary listing of each variable contained in the file. This listing provides, for each variable, the variable number, the short label, the location of the implied decimal point (if blank, the variable is a whole number), the tape position, and a long label. This section should serve as a quick guide to the contents of the file.

Section 2 presents a complete and detailed listing of the variables and variable frequency distributions in the data file. For each variable in the file, the variable number, a short variable label, the tape location, a longer variable title, and a completely labeled frequency distribution (for all categorical codes that occur for that variable) are presented. For several items individual code tabulations would not be appropriate; in these cases group frequencies are reported, or only the frequency of data within the minimum to maximum range of the item and the error codes for the item are given. The fields that contain alpha-numeric information are documented as such in the frequency distributions.

As an aid in interpreting the labeling and coding methods used in these frequency distributions, consider the following hypothetical item response diagram:

0,1,2	8	Datum (+20, +40, +60)

The outermost digit in this response diagram indicates the level of routing consistency. A "0" denotes consistency; a "1," inconsistency; or a "2," multiple inconsistencies with the routing item or items external to it. For all variables, any value label containing an asterisk (*) denotes external routing inconsistency.

Within the datum for routing items, there may possibly exist codes to which have been added either 20, 40, or 60, indicating a violation of the logic of the skip pattern. A value label containing "X," "XX," or "XXX" denotes the addition of 20, 40, or 60, respectively.

For those manually edited items with initial multiple responses, a prefix of "8" has been added to the response. This digit, which indicates editing, precedes the datum.

For some variables, response values were collapsed for presentation purposes due to the large number of possible responses. This collapsing is indicated in frequency distributions by category labels specifying defined ranges. Consider the two sample tables presented below.

In Sample Table 1, individual code tabulations are reported. The values in the "CODE" column actually exist on the data file. The category labels for these values correspond to the item response descriptions for second follow-up question 4 (SQ4).

In other cases, where data have been collapsed for reporting, the value in the "CODE" column is arbitrary and has been deleted. Sample Table 2 illustrates the collapsing procedure. Group frequencies are reported for the ranges indicated by the category labels. It must be noted that no values are presented in the "CODE" column. This is the result of temporarily collapsing the ranges for printing, and the full range of values is present on the data file. The distribution presented in Table 2 indicates that the possible range of values is 0 to 299999. Reference to the questionnaire item being summarized will aid in definition of what exact values can be expected in the data file for continuous variables.

The tabulations of the variables are listed in the order that the variables appear in the data file.
